

Spanish palace graces palace of shops

A LITTLE piece of Spain's fabulous Alhambra Palace will grace Milton Keynes' palace of shopping.

Milton Keynes Islamic Arts Heritage & Culture Organisation has celebrated its link with thecentre:mk by presenting chief executive Robert Goodman with a painting by Ayesha Gamiet.

Ayesha was among several artists appearing at a recent exhibition in Middleton Hall.

MKAH&C chairman Anouar Kassim said: "thecentre:mk has been very generous in supporting us, embracing events and activities that promote community cohesion and bring added value to the shopping experience."

The painting, Heart in Bloom, which will hang in the centre's management suite, is inspired by geometry from the fabulous Moorish palace in Granada and features colours evoking feelings of peace, joy and love.
